

Design your pajamas

Learn with Plagtrick and Echo!

Hi, it's me, Echo! I feel great today because I had a good night's rest last night. When we go to bed on time, it gives our body ample time to recharge and prepare for the next day! Each evening, our body produces melatonin, a hormone that helps us fall asleep and stay asleep. Listening to our body when we feel sleepy at night is an important way to lead heart-healthy lives. Each night we cycle through the 5 stages of sleep:

Stage 1: We toss and turn and are easily woken up.

Stage 2: Our breathing and heart rate slows and our blood pressure drops.

Stage 3 and 4: We sleep deeply and recharge for the next day.

Stage 5: Our brain activity increases, rapid eye movement (REM) begins and we do most of our dreaming.

My Great Day

A story by _____.
(Name)

When I get a full night's rest, I have the energy to have a great day. My perfect dream day starts out in _____.

_____ I'll take time to _____ (place) (verb)

around and look at all the _____ (adjective)

_____. What a great day!

(plural noun)

Dreams

Getting a good night's rest sets you up for success to follow your dreams! What's a dream that you have that you want to achieve?

Write your dream in the thought cloud below.

Want to learn more? Visit edecho.org
©Early Cardiovascular Health Outreach 2026

ECHO
& FRIENDS
PICNIC

